

Women in Historic Preservation Conference May 19-21, 2000

The third national Women in Historic Preservation Conference will be held at George Washington University at Mount Vernon College, May 19-21, 2000. Participants will learn about the history of women's work in historic preservation, preserving landscapes and sites associated with women's history, and using historic sites to teach women's history. They will meet professional in the fields of historic preservation, historical archeology, historic landscape preservation, history, curation, and education while enjoying the ambiance of a historic women's college. Leaders in historic preservation will be honored at an awards ceremony at the National Building Museum.

For more information, see the conference web site at <www.caup.washington.edu/women-pres>.